Tune in every Monday night from midnight till two, as we celebrate the art of the singer/songwriter, but be apprised that we don't use the term generically. While you'll hear plenty of troubadour types, this show encompasses pop, rock, R&B, country, folk, anything that allows a singer to step up to a microphone and let the world in on his or her own personal answer to the riddle of the soul. That answer might be offered by anyone from Leonard Cohen to Ted Leo, Joanna Newsom to Johnny Cash, it's all For the Sake of the Song.

2Bad Jim is the secret sonic identity of Jim Allen, a Brooklyn-based singer/songwriter (surprise!) and music journalist. Jim is a member of the bands Lazy Lions and The Ramblin' Kind, in addition to working as a solo artist (www.myspace.com/jimallen) with three albums to his credit. As a writer he has contributed to everything from Mojo Magazine to RollingStone.com. He lives in Boerum Hill with his wife, daughter, dog, cat, and record collection.

news: 06.01.2009 - LIVE TONIGHT - THIS FRONTIER NEEDS HEROES

Tune in to tonight's show and catch special guests This Frontier Needs Heroes, Brooklyn's own evocative alt-folk outfit. We'll be talking about and listening to their great new self-titled album and digging into some of their own musical influences, ranging from Jimmie Rodgers to The Clash.
